

CHICAGO

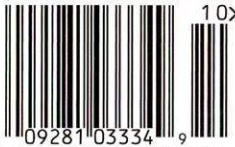

Luxe.

interiors + design®

$ 9.95 A SANDOW PUBLICATION | LUXE SOURCE®

10>

0 09281 03334 9

SEPT/OCT 2020 | DISPLAY UNTIL 11/02/20

BLUEPRINT PARKLINE CHICAGO

Set to debut in spring 2021, Parkline Chicago is a rarity for the city as both a new build in the Loop and a hybrid condo-apartment concept. Currently under construction at 60 East Randolph across from Millennium Park, the new residential building will have 24 condos and 190 apartments. Residences—located on floors 20 through 25—will feature Wolf, Sub-Zero and Cove appliances, Snaidero cabinetry, quartz countertops, and walk-in showers and soaking tubs. “Every home features gracious layouts with a balance of formal and informal living spaces and design elements that flow together to create an expansive feel, maximized by 10-foot ceiling heights and floor-to-ceiling windows,” says Thomas Roszak, founder and principal of Thomas Roszak Architecture, who’s collaborating with developer Mocerri + Roszak. A 19th-floor amenity space exclusive to condo owners will have a private conference room with catering kitchen, a library and a sky terrace, while the fourth and 18th floors will have fitness and wellness facilities open to all residents. parklinechicago.com

BACK to LIFE

DESIGN PROS SHARE WHAT THEY MISS MOST RIGHT NOW.

While staying at home has its perks, being inside for months has us jonesing for our favorite spots around town. Here, Chicago designers share the feel-good space topping their list.

◀ AMY KARTHEISER

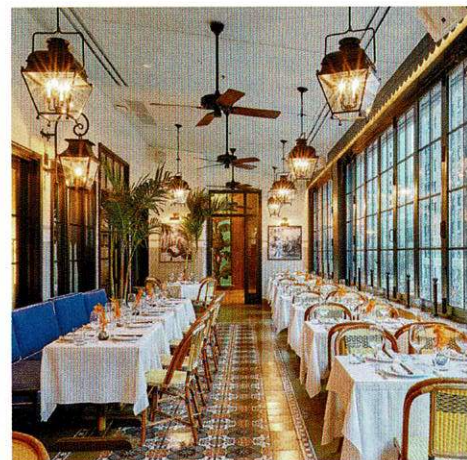

Founder, Amy Kartheiser Design

“I’m excited to treat myself to a day at The Peninsula Spa with friends. The whole experience is dedicated to wellness, including the design, which forms a warm, relaxing and soothing environment. It marries luxury with simplicity in a way that makes you feel like you’ve entered a haven from city life. I love to start with a restorative yoga class before indulging in a full day of spa treatments and lunch on the outdoor patio. I always leave feeling relaxed and rejuvenated.” peninsula.com/chicago

MICHELLE JOLAS AND LAUREN LOZANO ZIOL ▶

Co-founders, SKIN

“We have always loved Le Colonial for its chic, 1920s French Colonial Asian interior and ginger martinis. From the moment you enter its new location on Oak Street, you’re transported to another world—and we can’t wait to go back. On the enclosed patio, decorative floor tiles, Asian lanterns, proper white tablecloths, orchids and cane-backed chairs are juxtaposed with the dark, sultry wood-paneled bar. The ambience is heightened by the attention to lighting detail, fabric shade fixtures, lanterns and fans, which make you feel at home.” lecolonial.com

◀ JEN TALBOT

Principal, Jen Talbot Design

“I have missed connecting with my local vintage vendors. One of my favorite stores in the West Town neighborhood is South Loop Loft, which is filled with edited vintage finds from owner Beth Berke’s extensive travels to Italy and Paris. The in-store styling and carefully curated vignettes are so inspiring—and not an experience you can have unless you are in the physical store. I have missed all the small details, such as her accessory wall and vintage fine-art collection. Beth and I will often have Champagne and share some laughs.” thesouthlooploft.com